OFFICER INCENTIVE GUIDANCE

AF/RE approved the Air Force Reserve Command officer incentive program to be effective 1 Sep 08. This action was taken in accordance with the allowance provided in Title 37, U.S.C, Section 308j, Chapter 5. This incentive is designed for recruitment and retention in specific officer Air Force Specialty Codes (AFSCs) designated for bonus entitlement. There are two types of officer incentive program types-accession and affiliation. Both types of officer incentive programs will be paid a potential bonus entitlement of $10k encompassing a 3-year period.

Accession bonus: for those individuals agreeing to accept an appointment as an officer in the armed forces to serve in the Air Force Reserve in a designated officer AFSC on the incentive list. Generally, accession bonuses are paid to non-prior service personnel. However, prior service personnel who are commissioned into a designated bonus skill via the Air Force Reserve Deserving Airman Commissioning Program or other commission program are eligible for accession bonus program participation.

Affiliation bonus: for those qualified personnel who are transferring directly from the active duty (AD) without a break in service (i.e., PALACE FRONT applicants) and have completed fewer than 20 years of military service from paydate. This bonus also applies to officers who affiliate from the IRR while serving the remainder of a military service obligation (MSO). PALACE CHASE applicants are not eligible.

Written agreements are required for the officer accession and affiliation bonuses. Please contact your servicing MPS for additional information.
