

Frontline Notice: 250701-03

Topic: TSA phasing out Uniformed Service IDs

Applicable to: Air Force Reserve and Air National Guard

BLUF: Starting in Fall 2025, the TSA is expected to phase out Uniformed Service IDs (USIDs) as acceptable identification at airport checkpoints due to new government policies. However, Common Access Cards (CACs) will continue to be accepted.

To stay informed about this transition and any further changes, we recommend regularly checking the TSA website: <https://www.tsa.gov/travel/security-screening/identification>.
